How to Search?

Search: Enter your desired search words into the search box and click "Go." By default it will search the Encyclopedia Britannica. Click on the button next to Merriam-Webster Dictionary & Thesaurus to search the dictionary or find synonyms in the Thesaurus.

Example: bugs

Results will yield all results that yield results "bug"

Limit: Limit your search by selecting "Encyclopedia Britannica," "Concise Encyclopedia," "Media," or "Websites" from the list to the left of your results.

Click on "From Ebsco" or "From Proquest" under journals & magazines to see results from journals or magazines.

Advanced Search: Search for results that contain “all the words,” “with the exact phrase,” “with any of the words,” “without these words,” or “with these words near each other.” Combine any of these options for more specific results.

Example: “all the words”: New York AND “without these words”: Manhattan. This will yield results about New York omitting articles containing the word Manhattan.
