

New Historical Fiction

Seeking a home where her children won't be held back by ethnicity or gender, Rhoda moves them to Ethiopia, and all three fall in love with the beautiful, peaceful country. But that peace is shattered by the threat of war with Italy, and teenage Em and Teo are drawn into the conflict. By Elizabeth Wein

In Portland, Oregon, in 1900, seventeen-year-old Olivia Mead is hypnotized by the intriguing young Henri Reverie, who's been paid by her father to make her more docile and womanly but who, instead, gives her the ability to see people's true nature, while she secretly leads the fight for women's rights. By Cat Winters

Missouri, 1849: life on the Oregon Trail is unsafe for two girls, so they disguise themselves as Sammy and Andy, two boys headed for the California gold rush. They forge a powerful bond as they each search for a link to their past, and struggle to avoid any unwanted attention. By Stacey Lee

When Triss wakes up after an accident, she knows that something is very wrong. She is insatiably hungry; her sister seems scared of her and her parents whisper behind closed doors. She looks through her diary to try to remember, but the pages have been ripped out. By Frances Hardinge

In this heart-stopping sequel to The Diviners, piano-playing Henry DuBois and Chinatown resident Ling Chan are two Diviners struggling to keep their powers a secret. Can they solve the mystery of a strange sleeping sickness that keeps turning up across New York City. By Libba Bray

Natalya knows a secret. A magical Faberge egg holds a power rooted in the land and stolen from the mystics. A power that promises a life of love for her and Alexei Romanov. Power, that, in the right hands, can save her way of life. But it's in the wrong hands. By J. Nelle Patrick

This historical novel is based on the true story of the meteoric rise of an immensely talented young black dancer, William Henry Lane, who influenced today's tap, jazz, and step dancing. With meticulous and intensive research Lane's story is brought to life. By Walter Dean Myers

With a gorgeous Romanian setting, stunning Parisian gowns, and dark brooding young men, this is an epic adventure of two girls in a battle for their lives. It is time for Dacia and Lou to fulfill the prophecy that demands their acceptance of this fate... or fight against this cruel inheritance with all their might. By Jessica Day George

This alternative history re-imagines the 1815 Battle of Waterloo as a victory for the French when a terrible secret weapon is unleashed on the unsuspecting British and Prussian armies. Only a young outsider living in hiding has the power to ruin the tyrant's plans. And Napoléon will stop at nothing to find him. By Brian Falkner

Merging suspense with science- and historical-fiction, Ghosts of Heaven is a tale worthy of intense obsession. A bold epic that chronicles madness, obsession, and creation, from the Paleolithic era through the Witch Hunts and into the space-bound future. By Marcus Sedgwick